Using funding from HUD, the state DEO office seeks to fill the gaps of skilled workers in construction trades. By strengthening the labor force, the state can better support the increased demands for post-disaster construction and build a workforce for future disasters, while providing Floridians with a path towards improved employment opportunities. Programs will be offered at a variety of locations in Orange and Osceola counties, and include all job placement and support services. Selected programs include: Welding 1, Welding 2, Heavy Equipment Operator, Carpentry, Electrical Power Lineman, and Apartment Maintenance Technician. Funds will also be used for ESOL program costs for individuals who test at a language level less than 5. | $1,972,003.00   | No    |

The goal is to provide career counseling and skills training for the unemployed or underemployed parents. New this year is the ability for parents to complete ESOL courses and/or GED through Orange Technical College.
